WORST FLOODS KNOWN

Washington Isolated By Swollen Streams

Railroad Traffic Between Cities and Towns in Central Ohio Almost Impossible

COLUMBUS LEVEE BREAKS

Capital Is at the Mercy of the Raging River---All Steam Railroad and Traction Line Traffic Is Abandoned---No Trains Arriving or Departing From the Capital City---Street Car Service Annulled and Light System Is Out of Commission.

BUSINESS PART OF DAYTON UNDER FIVE FEET OF WATER

Swollen Streams Continue to Rise at an Alarming Rapid Rate and Rain is falling Steadily in all Sections of Central and Northern Ohio. Great Loss of Life is Reported and the Property Damage is Tremendous.

PAINT CREEK RAMPANT

The Yellow Swirling Waters Last Night Burst Over the Banks and Inundated the Low Lands.

PROPERTY AND LIFE MENACED

By the Angry Waters Which Continue to Rise and Spread Until All Flood Records Promise to Be Exceeded.

RAIN IS STILL FALLING

Residents in the Lowlands in This City Spent Anxious Night and Are Rushing Goods Out of Range of Rising Waters.

Washington and Fayette county have joined hands with the State and Central United States in undergoing one of the worst floods in its history, and the damage in the city and county will reach into the thousands.

Filled to overflowing by the incessant downpour every stream in the county has left its banks and most of them are steadily rising.

Paint creek, passing through this city, was at flood stage Monday night, and the heavy rains Tuesday morning caused it to rise rapidly and at the noon hour it had covered its flood plain and was climbing upward at the rate of six inches every hour.

Railroad and telegraph and telephone service has been demoralized so completely that it will take a week or ten days to restore it, although in this county the road beds are in fairly good condition.

The valleys of Paint creek, Sugar creek, Rattlesnake, Deer creek and Compton creek resemble rivers, and many large bridges are threatened with destruction, as the rushing waters are lapping high upon the abutments and piers.

Carries Mail Overland

Postmaster Warren W. Williams, of Jeffersonville, not to be outdone by the annullment of D. T. & I. trains, placed the mail in bags and brought it to this city by horse and buggy, reaching here at 11:15 and returning with the mail in the afternoon.

Sunnyside School Dismissed

Too much water caused a dismissal of the Sunnyside school Tuesday morning, when water backed up in the cellar.

Citizens View Flood

A great many citizens climbed to the belfry of the court house Tuesday to view the floods, and for two or three miles in all directions the flood was visible.

Paint creek resembled a large river, and the magnitude of the big flood was apparent. It seemed that half of the surrounding territory was covered with water.

TOLL OF TORNADO

In Nebraska and Iowa Is Over 200 Lives. Terre Haute, Indiana, Alone Reports Thirty Killed.

Special to Herald.

Omaha, Neb., March 25.—More than 200 persons were killed and 400 were injured in a windstorm that demolished 500 houses, damaged hundreds of other buildings and caused a monetary loss of $5,000,000, according to reports available up to a late hour last night from the main path of the tornado near Omaha. Most of the casualties were in Omaha, which was stricken as never before.

Near-by towns in Nebraska and across the Missouri river, in Iowa, also suffered severely.

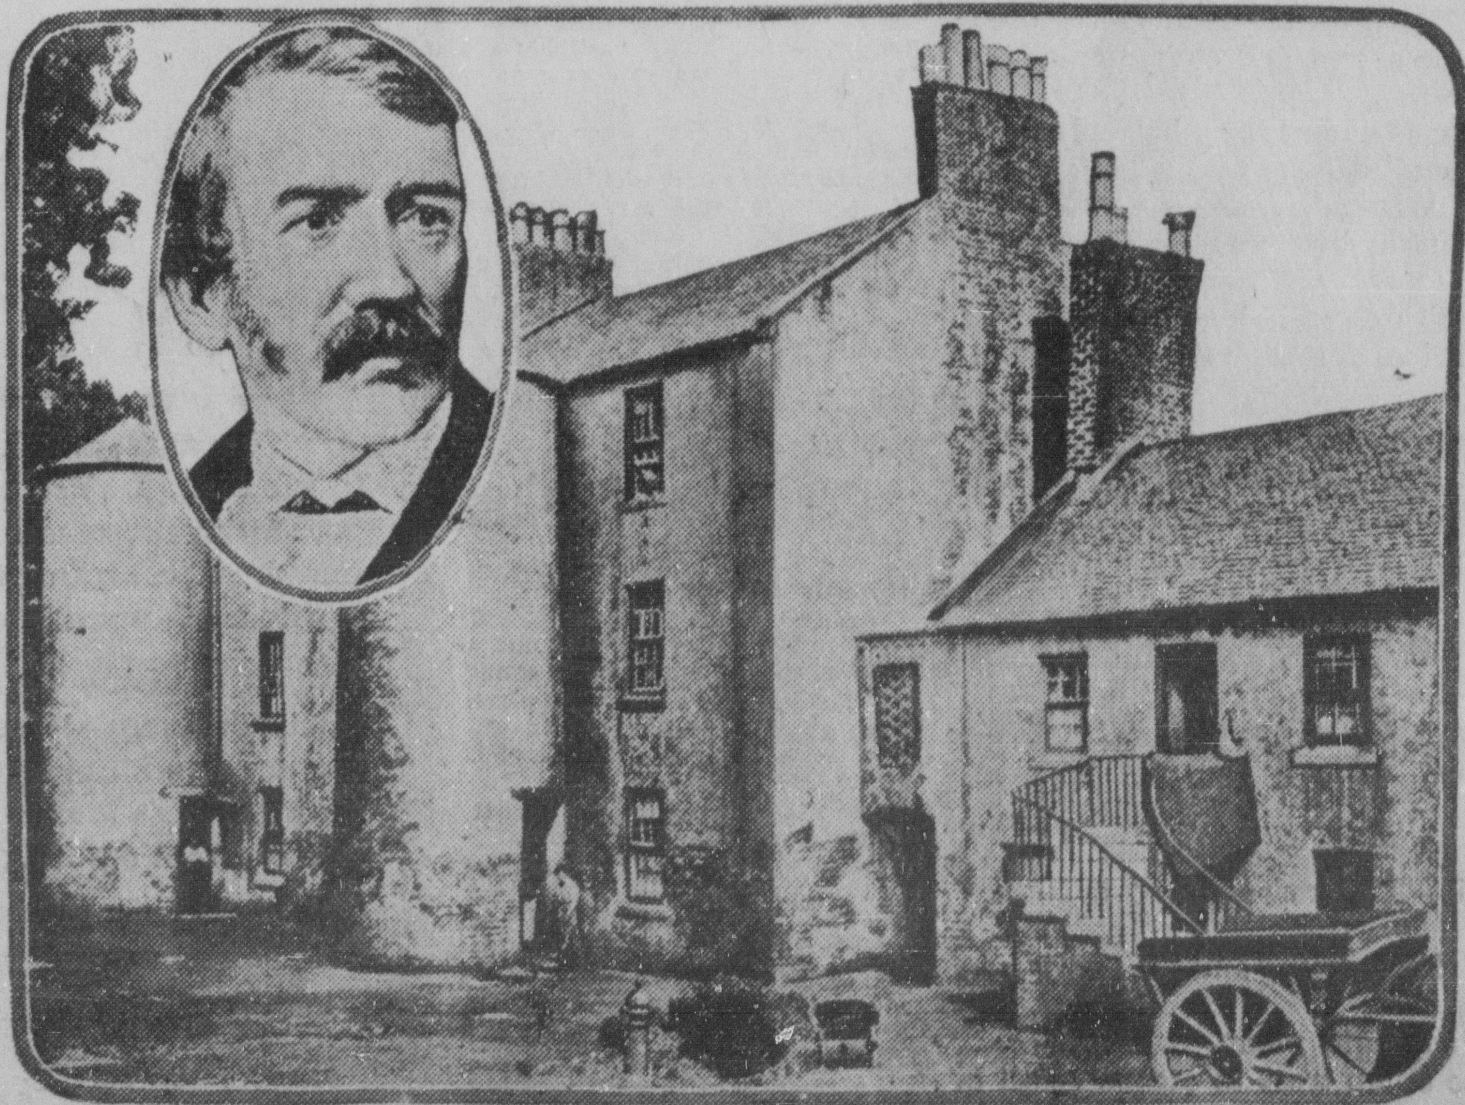

Wires were snapped off in all directions, and it took many hours to gather and circulate news of the disaster.

Fire broke out in the debris of many wrecked buildings in the Nebraska metropolis, and these were menaces for some time, as the fire companies were hindered by fallen walls and blockaded streets.

A heavy rain followed the wind, however, and drenched the hundreds of homeless persons, but also put out the flames.

Of the 202 known dead within the area covered by the storm 152 were residents of

CENTENARY OF THE BIRTH OF DAVID LIVINGSTONE

The hundredth anniversary of the birth of Dr. David Livingstone, the famous African explorer and missionary, was celebrated March 19. Our illustration shows Shuttle Row, Blantyre, near Glasgow, Scotland, where Livingstone was born, the inset being a portrait of the explorer.

Omaha. The remaining dead are scattered over a considerable range of territory, with Council Bluffs reporting 12; Yutan, Neb., 16; Ralston, 14; Berlin, Neb., 7; Glenwood, Iowa, 5; Neola, Iowa, 2, and Bartlett, Iowa, 3. The same cities and towns report an aggregate of 400 injured and 450 homes demolished.

Perhaps 1,500 persons are homeless. Aside from this 3,000 buildings were more or less damaged, many of these being churches and school buildings. Eight of Omaha's public schools were wrecked.

All forms of communication were almost annihilated by the wind, and only two or three wires were in working condition when daylight relieved a night of high tension, which at times almost became panicky.

Soldiers, state and national troops, poured into the city during the day to aid in bringing order out of what for 26 hours had been chaos.

Last night these guardians of the peace are patrolling the residence districts, aiding the police to maintain order and relieve such cases of suffering as come to their notice.

The greatest loss of life occurred sectionally. Three points in the path of the storm offered the greatest sacrifices. These were at Fortieth and Farnam streets, where a crowd had sought refuge in a garage, at Twenty-fourth and Lake streets, where a moving picture theater was demolished, and at Twenty-fourth and Willis avenue, where a poolroom had attracted a crowd. In each of these places the fatalities were large.

No such catastrophe ever had visited the city, and it was overwhelmed by it. The citizens quickly rose to the situation, however, and measures of relief were organized promptly.

Trinity Cathedral, a parish of the Omaha Episcopal church, was temporarily turned into a coffee house.

Catholic priests visited homes that had been destroyed in many cases administering the last rites of the church, and public bodies began the organization of relief committees. Last night $100,000 had been subscribed for the relief of the destitute.

Telegraph and telephone communication, which had been at a standstill for 24 hours, improved during the night. Intra-state, as well as interstate communication, was far from normal and it is believed that the full effects of the storm may not be known for several days.

Reconstruction was begun last night when, at a meeting of the Real Estate Exchange, a committee was appointed to take up this work.

Insurance companies experienced heavy losses, most of their fire policies carrying a tornado clause.

The hospitals in Omaha are full of injured, many of whom have not yet been identified, apparently because their friends are either dead or among the injured.

There has been little or no looting. The business men are co-operating in every way.

The Omaha hotels have thrown open their doors for the injured.

Every train into Omaha today brought scores of persons from near-by towns who have relatives and friends here, and they made up one continual stream of visitors to the morgues and the hospitals.

The storm appeared to have started at Fifty-fourth and Center streets. From there it traveled north, veering slightly to the east to Leavenworth street. Then it took a northeasterly course to Fortieth and Farnam streets, sweeping its way through everything. Still traveling a little east of north it covered a course from Fortieth street east to Thirty-fourth street, a distance of six blocks.

Striking Bemis Park, where the homes of the well-to-do Omaha citizens are located, the storm turned sharply to the east and passed along Parker and Blonde streets to Twenty-fourth street, where its path was six blocks wide. In the latter section the damage is complete.

Finally at Fourteenth and Spencer streets the storm swept over the bluffs high above the Missouri river, demolishing the Missouri Pacific roundhouse, leveled the big trestle of the Illinois Central railroad over Carter lake, wrecked a number of buildings near the Rod and Gun club, a fashionable outing place and disappeared to the northeast.

The storm came almost without warning, the day, which opened with overcast skies having cleared in the afternoon. The little town of Ralston, three miles west of South Omaha, first felt the fury of the storm, which there took a toll of a half dozen or more lives and practically destroyed the town.

Electric light and trolley wires were carried down by the storm and had to be shut off in the devastated districts, so that all work in the night had to be done by the light of lanterns, and only an imperfect idea of the extent and character of the damage could be formed.

The work of rescue was at once undertaken, but only slow progress was made in the darkness and the blockaded streets. Emergency morgues and hospitals were established at various points, and all available physicians and nurses pressed into service.

Dr. H. W. Connell, city health commissioner, appealed to surgeons to volunteer their services for the relief of injured, and responses came by scores.

The city authorities, realizing in a measure the extent of the calamity, immediately asked the commander of the Federal forces at Fort Omaha for aid in patrolling the city.

Levee Breaks at Columbus West Side Under Water

Special to Herald.

Columbus, Ohio, March 25.—The greatest flood in history has struck this city.

The West Side levee broke this morning and the entire west side is under water.

One man was drowned at the light plant.

Four others were forced to climb trees to escape death in the swirling waters.

The police have given a general alarm for all people to flee to the hill sides.

School buildings have been thrown open to the flood sufferers.

The street cars are not running, the power plant being flooded.

The lights have been put out of commission and tonight the city will be in darkness.

Even the waterworks plant has been forced to close down.

At one o'clock this afternoon the water was 11 feet two inches over the storage dam—the highest ever known.

The river is still rising. The loss will be many hundreds of thousand dollars.

Railroad Traffic Tied in Knot

Commencing Monday night the D. T. & I. annulled all trains on the road between Lima and Bainbridge, and the road has been at the mercy of the floods. No trains were run Tuesday morning. Even the telegraph wires were down.

The tracks at Greenfield were swept away shortly before noon today.

Only one train was run over the C. H. & D., and that was the west-bound morning train, which reached a point near Jamestown and was forced to abandon the run. No trains could leave Dayton.

On the B. & O. the two early morning trains were the only ones able to get through. Numbers 101 and 103 were detoured over the N. & W. to Chillicothe and from thence into Cincinnati over the main line. No. 104 was detoured over the Big Four but could not reach Columbus.

The Pennsylvania road was able to run both trains through this place, although the road is under water in a number of places.

Serious washouts are reported on the C. H. & D., B. & O. and D. T. & I. and it may be a week before full repairs can be made.

Akron's Loss a Million Dollars

Special to Herald.

Akron, O., March 25.—The flood damage here will reach beyond $1,000,000. The Cuyahoga is sweeping everything before it.

Dayton 5 Feet Under Water

Special to Herald.

Dayton, Ohio, March 25.—The Miami river levee broke this morning, turning the waters into the heart of the city.

In front of the Algonquin hotel the water is five deep. All shops and stores are flooded and the damage will reach far into the hundreds of thousands. Several persons believed to have been drowned. Water is highest in history and crest of flood has not yet passed. All railroads are tied up. Both telephone systems out of commission.

Big Barn Destroyed

During a violent electric storm Monday night the lightning struck the Samuel Ervin barn near Greenfield and it was totally destroyed, together with all of its contents, including several head of live stock.

The barn was one of the largest in the neighborhood and the loss is a heavy one.

Lightning did much damage at other points in and near Greenfield during the same storm.

The Columbus Horror

Dr. L. L. Brock received a telephone call this afternoon from his brother, Dr. Evan Brock, of Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, stating that about one-third of the West Side of Columbus is under water and that residents were driven to the upper stories and roofs. Many are firing guns in desperate efforts to secure relief. The few boats available are being used to row rescued persons to Mt. Carmel hospital, which stands on the highest ground in that part of the city.

Men and women are making improvised rafts and endeavoring to escape in that way.

Dr. Brock states that two men on a raft fell into the water in front of the hospital and were drowned in view of those safely housed there.

Latest News From Columbus

Special to Herald.

Columbus, Ohio, March 25.—2:50 P. M.—A big fire has broken out on the West Side. Department cannot reach it.

Two women were drowned on West Broad street at noon. Others reported drowned.

Water is rising rapidly in the penitentiary, flooding all shops.

The Rich street and Mound street bridges have washed out. The Broad street bridge is ready to go at any moment. It carries big gas and water mains for the West Side.

No trains or interurbans are running. Practically all telegraph wires are out of commission.

The river is still rising. Heavy loss of life is feared.

The big bridge near West Jefferson was washed out at noon.

MEETING TONIGHT.

A meeting will be held tonight in Wesley Chapel, rain or shine.

All streams have become raging torrents, and the swirling waters have carried away thousands of dollars' worth of corn, fences, watergates, small bridges and roadways.

Countless places throughout the county the pikes have been cut through by the waters which could find no means of escaping as rapidly as it accumulated.

At noon today the flood in this county was pronounced the highest except once, since 1884, and was still climbing upward.

Every low place has been transferred into a small lake, and in fields where there is little fall, two-thirds of the fields are under water.

Scores of cellars throughout the city contain from one to six feet of water. The eastern part of the city was flooded by the Zimmerman ditch overflow. Some parts of the gas house region are flooded.

Cyclone in Northern Fayette

A genuine twister struck the extreme northern part of the county between four and five o'clock Monday evening, laying waste a path nearly 100 yards.

The cloud dipped down and struck the earth some four miles north of Jeffersonville, and for a considerable distance it wrecked all fences, tore out and broke off large trees and created havoc generally.

Dr. H. L. Little, who was driving along the road, escaped death in a most miraculous manner. His horse and buggy were picked up and hurled with great violence into the ditch, but Dr. Little escaped with some severe bruises.

Continuing eastward the storm struck Bert Mock's farm, wrecking his barn and doing other damage about the premises. Fortunately the house was just outside of the main path of the storm.

On the Ben Johnson and Robert Dill farms fences, trees and telephone poles were laid flat. One small building was picked up from its foundation and carried some distance.

The storm lost itself near Sedalia, it is said.

Snow Falling at Omaha

Special to Herald.

Omaha, Neb., March 25.—Snow is falling here and is two inches deep, greatly hampering the work of rescue.

The death list to date has reached 152.

Bridges Threatened

The eddy current of swollen Paint creek is eating the embankment away from the south abutment of the cement bridge near the B. & O., and at 2:30 this afternoon the embankment was disappearing rapidly.

At the B. & O. and C. H. & D. transfer immediately west of the B. & O. depot is endangered by the flood, and the water is boiling up under the south side of the embankment leading to the bridge, indicating that it is being eaten away from beneath.

The Dayton avenue bridge and B. & O. bridge are endangered if the first transfer bridge goes out.

Drowned in Delaware

Special to Herald.

Delaware, Ohio, March 25.—The Olentangy river broke through the levee here this morning and the mayor and nine others were drowned. Property loss is heavy.

Special Train On B. & O. Gathers Boats

MAYOR SMITH WAS CALLED ABOUT THREE O'CLOCK BY THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE B. & O. RAILROAD AND INFORMED THAT A SPECIAL TRAIN WOULD COME THROUGH IN HALF AN HOUR GATHERING BOATS AND SKIFFS ALONG THE LINE AND RUSHING THEM TO COLUMBUS WHERE THE WORK OF RESCUE ON THE WEST SIDE COULD BE CARRIED ON.

THE MAYOR AND POLICE LOST NO TIME IN GATHERING WHAT FEW SKIFFS AND BOATS THERE WERE HERE AND RUSHING THEM TO THE TRAIN.

La Grecque Corsets

AND

Tailored Underwear

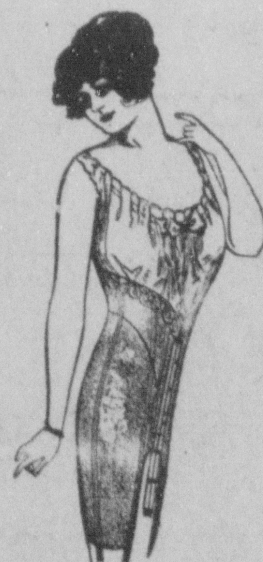

All this week our own corsetiers will be assisted by Mme. Petrie, an expert from the Van Orden Corset Co., New York, sent here to further acquaint Washington women with the superiority of these justly famed accessories of dress.

The makers of La Grecque Tailored Underwear cater to the best gowned women of the country, and what they present in the ready made article is the composite result of many careful fittings and a close knowledge of what the fashionable woman demands in both style and comfort.

La Grecque Tailored Underwear fits with exactness the many different styles of figures. La Grecque Corset does likewise, modifying the form only when it is out of line with nature's idea. Insures shapeliness, stylish distinctness and real comfort.

Have a fitting at the hands of Mme. Petrie. It will be free and in no way entail an obligation to buy unless you so desire.

The Horse Show An Opportunity

Any enterprise which reaches out of the small city—stretches forth a hand, from the confines of the particular community into the great outside world and beckons those who are on the outside to come within the city's gates and visit for a while—is immensely advantageous if—

Always providing, however, that the visitors who come from the great outside are not disappointed. Always providing that the hand which promises becomes, at the appointed time, a hand which fulfills its promise.

Washington has in the past stretched forth a hand and beckoned to the outside world and many have come.

The result has been a host of admirers gained for the city. Thousands who came departed with the best feeling of friendship for the city and its people.

Thousands left convinced that Washington was willing to do and capable of doing big things in a big way—the people of the city were wide-awake and energetic. This impression has been spread broadcast into the world outside and that is a big asset to this or any other city.

It means that the most wholesome, the most effectual advertising has been done and the advertising written into the minds of the visitors will circulate in the territory outside for a long time to come.

Next week private citizens who have planned it all and without asking any aid from the public to stage it, will present the horse show and hold a big combination sale of fine horses. The show and sale next week will be the second horse show and horse sale under the present management.

This time the chief executive officer of the state, Governor James M. Cox will be the guest of honor and his presence will lend a dignity and an importance to the event and to the city which can stage such an event.

The horse show and horse sale is one of those far reaching enterprises which must, beyond doubt, put the city on the map.

People are coming from far and near. Not only has the word of those who promote the sale reached to the outside world and beckoned, but all the hundreds who have been here before have called attention to that beckoning hand and given proof of its ability to fulfill its promise.

While in form a private enterprise in effect the horse show and horse sale is so far reaching in its effect upon the community as to warrant its being classed as a public undertaking.

The people of the city who will, of necessity, benefit by it, if it is a success, should give to the men who have combined in the concrete mass of energy their individual efforts and talents, that hearty support which real, sincere, well wishing furnishes—and that is all the show folks want.

The coming horse show is another chance for Washington people to make good with the many visitors from the outside who will come, primarily for the show and sale, but who will take a look at the community and its people while here.

The city has never yet failed to rise equal to the occasion and the coming week promises to add to Washington's reputation abroad as a city, whose people undertake to do big things and do them successfully and that will lead to great benefits.

Modern People Haven't the Time to Make Fast Friends

By Mrs. CHARLES HENROTIN, Chicago Clubwoman

THE men of today are in NO WAY EQUAL IN MATTERS OF COURTLINESS AND CHARM to the men with whom my father and mother associated. The men of my father's acquaintance were wonderfully well read. They had also a leisurely bearing and a charming good breeding that now seems to have PASSED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Lincoln was the type that in my father's time we meant by "gentleman."

A MENTAL ATTITUDE OF KINDLINESS toward every one we meet is a characteristic of good breeding, but to show how far that has fallen out of usage try as an experiment looking kindly at the next man you meet. I've tried it, and the man usually backed away with a startled expression.

CIVILIZATION INSTEAD OF INCREASING AND STRENGTHENING OUR FRIENDSHIPS, AS ONE WOULD THINK IT WOULD, HAS WEATHERED THEM. EVERY ONE IS IN TOO MUCH OF A HURRY TO BE FRIENDLY.

I have hundreds of friends with whom I have not had the time to get intimately enough acquainted to ask whether their husband is living or whether they have any children.

Poetry For Today

SMILE.

Like bread without the spreading,
Like pudding without sauce,
Like a mattress without bedding,
Like a cart without a horse,
Like a door without a latchstring,
Like a fence without a stile,
Like a dry and barren creek bed,
Is a face without a smile!

Like a house without a dooryard,
Like a yard without a flower,
Like a clock without a mainspring,
That will never tell the hour;
A hunger that sort o' makes yo' feel
A hunger all the while—
Oh, the saddest sight that ever was
Is a face without a smile!

The face of man was built for smiles.
An' thereby is he blest
Above the critters of the field,
And birds an' all the rest;
He's jest a little lower
Than the angels in the skies.
An' the reason is that he can smile;
Therein his glory lies!

So smile an' don't forget to smile,
An' smile, an' smile a'gin;
'Twill loosen up the cords of care,
An' ease the weight o' sin;
'Twill help yo' on the longest road,
An' cheer yo' mile by mile;
An' so, whatever is your lot,
Jes' smile, an' smile, an' smile.
—Augustin W. Breeden in the National Magazine.

Hartman Theater

May Robson in "A Night Out."

No self-respecting grouch will permit himself to be seen at the Hartman theater, Columbus during the three days beginning Thursday, April 3. But if he does go there he probably will be rocked into good humor by May Robson in her latest success, "A Night Out," a comedy brim full of laughs.

"A Night Out" fits Miss Robson's peculiarly happy disposition and capabilities as a comedienne to a nicety. And it ought to, for she wrote most of it herself. The spectacle of two young men carting "Granum" off to a high life cafe to prove to her that the place is highly respectable furnishes ample opportunity for fun-making. Miss Robson plays the part of a sprightly lady who refuses to grow old and really looks younger than her daughter, the mother of the two boys.

(John E. M. Kerr.)

June 27, 1867.

Base Ball Match:—The Columbian Baseball club, of South Salem, having accepted a challenge to a match game from the Fayette Baseball club, the contest took place at South Salem. This was the first match game played by either club and great interest was manifested in the game. Owing to the rain and mud, and a twenty-mile ride, the Fayettes were not on hand until 4 o'clock p. m.

The first striker took his place at 4:30 p. m., the Fayettes going to the field.

The game lasted 2 hours and 30 minutes and resulted in a victory for the Columbians by a majority of 26 runs.

The following is the score of the game:

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

The Pennsylvania railway authorities have adopted a new rule, governing train crews, that will be appreciated by the traveling public. When a passenger train is delayed for any cause, the conductor or brakeman is required to pass through their train and call out the reason for the delay, how long it will probably be, and any other information the passengers might be interested in. They are also required to help the travelers re-route themselves should occasion require, on account of delays or other accidents.

Promoters of the Waverly Fair Co. have begun a movement through which they have hopes of absorbing the Piketon Fair Co. and hereafter Pike county may have but one county fair instead of two. There is such a deal on and negotiations may be closed at any time, thus Waverly will get the $600 the state provides for county fair purposes and provide a better and larger fair.

A Kingston man, Luther Brandon, while cleaning his yard had a painful experience when he sat down to rest. A large wire nail had been driven through the board Mr. Brandon selected to sit upon. The nail penetrated the flesh to a depth of over two inches. He staggered into his residence where he fainted and fell over a stove, cutting a severe gash over his left eye. A surgeon was quickly called and the unfortunate man was soon resting easier.

In 1908, Anna Maggart was severely injured by an electric light pole on the street in Urbana. She sued the city and got $7200 damages and including costs the amount totaled over $8000. The city then brought suit against the Light company for $10,000 compensation. They have tried to compromise, the light com-

WHAT HE EXPECTED AND WHAT HE GOT.

—Berryman in Washington Star.

I'd Like to Be the Weather Man

I'd like to be the weather man because it must be nice
To draw a splendid salary for giving folks advice
About the kind of weather that another day will bring;
I'd rather work at work like that than any other thing.

I'd like to be the weather man because I'd draw my pay,
Regardless of whatever I had said or failed to say;
It's mighty hard to contemplate a nicer job than this:
It must be one continual unending life of bliss.

I'd tell folks early every Spring they needn't fear the frost;
They needn't cover up their plants,—that nothing would be lost;
And then when I apparently had people going right,
I'd freeze the very "day lights" out of everything in sight.

And on the third day of July of each and every year,
I'd issue my prediction that would make the Fourth appear
A pleasant day,—and thus I'd coax the picnic parties out;
And then to soak their very hides I'd bring a storm about.

I'd like to be the weather man in Summer when the heat,
For weeks had caused humanity to topple in the street;
For even while they sweltered at a hundred in the shade,
I'd work my "showers and probably" until I had it frayed.

And every day in Winter during weeks of blinding snow,
When people every morning found the mercury below
The zero mark, I'd promise balmy weather just to see
How very extraordinary pleasant I could be.

I'm sure I could predict the wind and weather in advance,
As well as anybody if I only had the chance;
But if for any reason I was somewhat "in the air",
I'd cover all contingencies by just predicting "fair".

It might arouse my vanity to be allowed to "reign",
And likely I would soon be atmospherically "vane";
But on the consummation of my theories I'm bent,
And money that is paid me will be "phphet-ably" spent.

WILL BE THE WORLD'S BIGGEST BATTLESHIP

This is the navy department's official sketch of the battleship Pennsylvania, which will be larger than any other warship ever built by any nation. Its tonnage will be 31,000, its length 600 feet and its beam 97 feet, which is almost the limit for safe passage through the Panama canal locks. The total cost of the Pennsylvania ready for service will be about $14,000,000.

BOUGHT HIDE, HOLDS COW.

Also the Calf That Came Afterward. Now Suit Is Threatened.

Dow, Ill.—A countryside version here of the "Merchant of Venice," with a cow in the role of Antonio, still lacks a Portia to settle the controversy.

Philip Wiegand, a farmer, found his cow was ill and was afraid she would die. Hoping to avoid a total loss, he sold the animal's hide to James Hawkins, a neighbor and friend, for $7.50. Hawkins was to take the animal to his farm and kill it, and Wiegand was to have the carcass to feed to his hogs. But the cow began to get better in her new home, so that Hawkins was convinced she would not die, after all. He doctored the animal, with the result that she recovered, and a few days ago she gave birth to a calf.

Wiegand immediately appeared and demanded that the cow with her calf be returned to him.

"I sold you only her hide," he said to his neighbor. "All the rest belongs to me."

"I bought the skin, and all that's inside it goes to me," retorted Hawkins. Hawkins refused to surrender the cow and calf, which, he says, he is

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used.

Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

TYPHOID MASTERED IN AMERICAN ARMY

During First Year of Compulsory Inoculation.

New York—Report of the remarkable results obtained by the use of anti-typhoid vaccine in the United States army was made by Major F. F. Russell of the army medical corps in an address before the Harvey society at the Academy of Medicine.

In Jacksonville in 1898 there were more than 1,000 cases of typhoid fever among 10,000 troops, and the mortality was very high. 87 per cent of the total deaths being due to typhoid. In 1912, the first year of compulsory anti-typhoid inoculation in the army, out of an army force of 58,000 men there were only fifteen cases of undoubted typhoid fever, with only two deaths.

Dr. Russell says this record is unequalled elsewhere in the world.

"The basis upon which rest the original studies which led up to the perfection of anti-typhoid inoculation," says Dr. Russell, "was the observed production of practically complete and permanent immunity as the result of an attack of typhoid fever. The use of vaccine in the United States army was begun in 1909 and met with such success that in September of 1911 its administration in the army was made compulsory for all men under forty-five years of age. Ours is the only army in which its use is compulsory. In our army alone is the three dose inoculation employed; hence we cannot fairly compare our results with those obtained by only one or two doses. It may be said, however, that the three dose method confers a greater degree of immunity and more lasting than do the other methods.

"After the order went into effect some time was required to complete the protection of the entire army, so that it was not until the beginning of 1912 that every man had been inoculated his three doses.

"The duration of immunity which is produced so efficiently by this method of vaccination must remain unsettled as yet. The British conclusions are that it is effective for two and a half years, but they do not use three doses and hence do not obtain so high a grade of immunity as we. Our own observations have shown no diminution in the immunity after four years. Revaccination every four years against both typhoid and smallpox has been made compulsory in our army."

SAYS TRIP TO THE MOON IS FEASIBLE

French Engineer Tells How It Can Be Done.

Paris.—A stir was caused by a paper read before the members of the French Physical society by Robert Esnault Pelterie, the brilliant young engineer, on how to get from the earth to the moon in forty-eight hours.

M. Pelterie insists that his idea is practicable, based on scientific calculations and not reminiscent of Jules Verne's romance.

The vehicle for the first travelers to the moon will, he says, be a closed vessel of extreme lightness, provided with a motor of great power, a combination which the astonishing advances of locomotion during the past hundred years brings well into sight.

Since there is no atmosphere in the space between our planet and the moon no system of propellers would be of any use, and the only possible means of driving the vehicle forward would be an adaptation of the rocket principle, which, he says, works as well in a vacuum as in air.

The motor then would work a kind of continuous rocket, and M. Pelterie has made calculations of just how much power the engine must have to carry the vehicle along the 240,000 odd miles between the earth and its satellite.

For a vehicle weighing one ton the motor would have to be of 414,000 horsepower. For added weight the horsepower must be proportionately increased. When this combination was realized the journey would be divided into three parts. The first would be to drive the vehicle with increasing speed until the sphere of the earth's attraction was passed. During the second the vehicle would continue its journey by inertia until it reached the point where the moon's attraction began, while the third would be the simple matter of dropping on to the latter's surface, no motive force being necessary.

The first of these phases, according to the lecturer, would last 24 minutes and 9 seconds; the second phase, 48 hours and 50 minutes; the third, 3 minutes and 46 seconds, giving a total of 49 hours 17 minutes 55 seconds.

During the first 4,000 miles, he says, the passengers would have the sensation of weighing one-tenth more than usual, but afterward they would cease to weigh at all and have the sensation of falling indefinitely into space.

To remedy the bad physical effects which might result from these phenomena special appliances, says M. Pelterie, might be installed.

WOMAN WITH FISH SCALES.

Peculiar Skin Formation of Blind Patient Attracts Doctors.

Cincinnati, O.—Members of the Cincinnati Academy of Medicine were startled at their weekly meeting by the appearance of a woman with scales, similar to those of a fish, covering her body, who was exhibited by Dr. Robert Sattler, the oculist.

Dr. Sattler had her brought into the room while discussing a recent operation for the eyes. The woman was practically blind. Dr. Sattler explained that through heredity she was afflicted with near blindness. In performing an operation on the woman's eyes Dr. Sattler discovered the peculiar scale formation of her skin.

"It is one of the most unusual cases I have ever heard of," he said. "It cannot be explained."

The woman told the doctors that she felt no pain or inconvenience from her peculiar covering. After the scientific curiosity of the assembly had been gratified she was whisked away in an automobile.

CAN RETARD OR ACCELERATE CANCER

California Investigators Tell of Experiments.

San Francisco.—T. B. Robertson and Dr. T. C. Burnett of the University of California laboratory make it known that they have found chemical substances that will accelerate or retard the growth of cancerous tumors.

One of the chemical substances experimented with was lecithin, which, they say, not only retards the spreading of cancer tumors to other parts of the body, but in some instances retards the growth of the original cancer tumor. On the contrary, cholesterol when likewise injected directly into the cancer tumor causes them to grow more quickly and spread.

This method of partial "control" of cancer having been established, it remains for further experiments to decide if lecithin can be so used as to check altogether the cancer growth.

Lecithin and cholesterol are both found in the human body. Lecithin is described chemically as a colorless, gummy, phosphorized fat, contained in the cell material of animal and vegetable bodies. The California experimenters extracted their lecithin from the yolks of eggs. Cholesterol is a crystalline compound contained in bile, gallstones, nerve tissue, blood, egg yolks, etc.

White rats were used in the experiments.

BARGAINS IN GOLD COINS.

Boys Sell Ten and Twenty Dollar Coins For 25 Cents Each.

Scranton, Pa.—Five North Scranton boys were arrested for selling ten dollar and twenty dollar gold pieces in the streets for 25 cents each.

They had more than $500 in gold in their pockets and admitted finding the shiny "metals" buried in the cellar of a house formerly occupied by Peter J. Scanlon, who was credited with being a miser.

TO GET SPARROWS DRUNK.

Before Executing Them, Says Dr. Surface of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia.—Ornithologists, humanitarians and lovers of birds and other animals in this city and state are aroused by the statement of Dr. H. A. Surface, the economic zoologist of the state department of agriculture, demanding that the only way to rid the country of the English sparrows is to make them tipsy and then mercifully kill them.

He says the department, when spring arrives, will deposit all over the country fields oats soaked in beer, whisky and alcohol and that after the birds have become intoxicated the agents of the department will gather them up and kill them.

WALES GETS HIS OWN HOME.

King George Purchases Expensive Stafford House For Prince.

London.—The king has purchased Stafford House as a future residence for the Prince of Wales.

There has been considerable gossip as to where the prince should be located. The king did not feel that he could afford to keep Stafford House for his son, but a strong hint was put out that the Labor and Socialist members of parliament would oppose any special grant for the Prince of Wales. The queen was also opposed to giving the young man any separate establishment until he was married.

IN SOCIETY

In compliment to her guest, Miss Edith Jones, of Athens, and Miss Edith Campbell, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Austin F. Hopkins entertained thirty young matrons and girls Monday afternoon.

The affair was altogether charming and of unusual pleasure to which Mrs. Hopkins' talented honor guests contributed a very beautiful concert program of piano music.

Miss Jones is teacher of piano and harmony at the Ohio University of Athens, and is an exceptionally brilliant pianist. She played a number of very difficult classical compositions, giving to them masterly interpretation. Her superb command of technique elicited the admiration of the guests, regardless of their musical knowledge, and she was most generous in responding to insistent demands.

Miss Edith Campbell, a finished pianist, of effectively contrasting style, also favored the guests with several beautiful solos. Miss Campbell's artistic renditions have always been appreciated in Washington's musical circles and to the exquisite delicacy of her touch she adds musicianly feeling.

Both artists found exceptional opportunity in the handsome Steinway Baby Grand piano, which Mrs. Ellen Jones recently presented to her grandson, Edwards Hopkins. Its rich mahogany case matches its perfect tone qualities.

Also enjoyed during the afternoon were the Victrola records of artists of note.

Easter decorations of soap dragons, lilies and hyacinths beautified the spacious rooms and a dainty collation was served.

Assisting Mrs. Hopkins in the afternoon's hospitalities were Mesdames Scott Hopkins, Walter Hamilton, J. M. Willis and Ralph Penn.

Mrs. Josephine Kerr and daughter, Miss Bess, gave an enjoyable six o'clock dinner Monday night in honor of Rev. William I. Campbell and his sister, Miss Edith Campbell, of Washington, D. C. The additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hitchcock and son, Del.

Miss Edith Jenkins, of Austin, is the guest of Miss Mazie Sturgeon.

Miss Katharine Moeller arrived from Portsmouth Tuesday afternoon to be the guest of Miss Roxie Stinson.

The O. S. U. students returned to Columbus Monday.

Mr. L. N. Moots has returned to Greenville after spending Easter with his family.

Mr. Lynn Smith and family returned Monday night from Dayton where they spent Easter with Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Tom Collopy.

Mrs. Thos. Grove spent Easter the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Ferguson, of Sabina.

Mrs. E. G. Michael returned Monday from Dayton where she has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Cluff.

Sylvester Highland has arrived at home from a visit with his son, Layman, in Paulding county, Ohio, and other relatives in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. Highland reports heavy damages in Paulding county from the wind storms of the past week, a large number of buildings being destroyed. Telegraph poles on the Nickle-Plate railroad in that neighborhood were blown down as far as the eye could see. Old residents of Paulding county claim that the storm was the most severe within their memory. Mr. Highland experienced considerable difficulty in reaching home owing to high waters throughout northern Ohio and washouts on the railroads.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson and family spent Easter with Mr. Ferguson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Ferguson at Sabina.

Mrs. Mary Dresback returned to her home in Columbus Tuesday taking with her mother, Mrs. Horace Hooker, for a two weeks' visit.

Mr. Leo Katz and family visited Mr. Katz's brothers, Messrs. Milton and Sam Katz, and their families, in Piqua, Sunday and Monday.

Frank Jamison is visiting Joseph Briggs in Bloomingburg.

Another Suit Over Assessments

Another suit has been filed in the Common Pleas court in which special assessments form the grounds for action.

The latest case is that of John W. Cripps and Sarah C. Cripps against R. S. Quinn as treasurer of Fayette county, and the city of Washington.

In the petition, which was drawn by Gregg, Patton and Gregg, the plaintiffs state that in April, 1909, a petition was filed asking for the improvement of Broadway from North street to Hopkins street, by constructing sidewalks, curb and gutters, and that a contract was entered into for the improvement, and that it was the intention of the Board of Public Service to grade and gravel the street, assessing the cost against the abutting property owners.

They further allege that the first part of the work was completed, and that part of the grading and graveling was done, and that with the coming into office of a new Service Director in January, 1910, the plans were changed to use gravel and broken stone, and that in September, 1910, council passed an assessing ordinance for taxing the cost against the various property owners. This ordinance is alleged to have been illegal.

Plaintiffs further claim lot No. 170, at that time belonging to them, had never been platted and was irregular and not as large as the regular city lot, but it was assessed the same as the other full size lots, the assessment reaching $206.70. Later the amount was certified over for collection and a penalty of $25.62 added.

The lot in question has since been sold to Frank Meyer, and a title free from incumbrance issued, and they ask that the court determine what part, if any, should be paid by them, and also to enjoin the treasurer from collecting the amount until decided by the court.

Alleged Forger Is Arrested

Eugene McBride Faces Serious Charge Preferred By Man Whose Name Was Attached to Forged Check Calling for $32.50.

Wilbur McBride, alias Eugene McBride, colored, aged about 28 years, was placed under arrest Tuesday morning by Chief McCoy, charged with uttering a forged note and using the name of W. V. Pence.

Mr. Pence appeared Monday evening and filed an affidavit against McBride, and when arrested McBride had a small amount of money, including 40 nickels. He has previously been arrested for gambling, it is charged.

The offense with which McBride is charged occupied Monday evening when he is alleged to have presented a check at a local bank, purporting to have been issued by Mr. Pence to Wilbur McBride, and calling for $32.50.

Growing suspicious of the check the bank officials notified Mr. Pence, who has been working on the Creamery plant, and the forgery was brought to light.

McBride declared that he had not been in the bank, but he was positively identified by employees of the bank. He has been working at the Creamery plant.

His preliminary hearing will take place immediately.

Calling for Aid

Special to Herald.

Xenia, O., March 25.—3:00 p. m.—Surrounding towns and cities have been appealed to for assistance in the way of boats to help rescue citizens from the flood district in Dayton. A man on a motor cycle reached Xenia at noon, and sent the call for help.

The waters broke through the levee near the monument on Main street in Dayton. Virtually all communications between Dayton and surrounding towns has been destroyed.

Quaker Minister Dies in Wilmington

Rev. LeRoy Clemmens, a well known Quaker minister of Wilmington, died Sunday night at his home after a lingering illness. He is the father of Claude Clemmens, of this city and a brother of Rev. F. M. Clemmens, of New Holland.

Mr. Claude Clemmens was with his father when he died returning Monday to take his wife back with him Monday night.

Mrs. Cora P. Shepherd takes the two grand-children, Phillips and Clifford Clemmens, down for the funeral, which will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m.

ROTHROCK SALE AND STOCK SALES DRAW CROWDS.

The J. L. Rothrock auction sale of livery and the monthly stock sale combined to bring a large crowd of farmers to town regardless of the rain, which came down like a cloud burst most of the day. Had it not been for the flooded condition of the county there would have been one of the biggest crowds of the year. Many expecting to come on the trains found traveling impossible, owing to the washouts and wrecked condition of the railroads.

The weather conditions proved a great disappointment to the merchants of our city, who were expecting an unusually large stock sale crowd. That the crowd was largely brought by the Rothrock sale was apparent by the congested condition of the big barn and the big crowd gathered outside regardless of the pouring rain.

Brief Outline Of "The Clean Up"

"The Cleanup", the comedy which is coming to the Empire Friday evening with the Strollers of Ohio State university, is one of the most stirring, forceful and true to life plays of its kind. Written especially for the organization by C. B. Robbins, a professional actor and director of the club for three years, it is especially adopted for college dramatics.

The scenes in the play are taken from places which are still in existence to the present day. The flop house, one of the most notorious criminal lairs in the country is in actual existence in our own state at present.

As the story of the play goes, it concerns a family in which the step mother marries a man about the same age as her eldest daughter and herself. The daughter is just home from Vassar college and is imbued with advanced ideas on social reform. Wanting to investigate the conditions in her home town, she sets out on a visit to the slums, disguised as a Salvation Army worker and accompanied by her step-father. Meeting with a real Salvation Army worker, she is branded as an impostor, arrested and thrown into jail.

During the hearing before the police judge who is also a candidate for mayor, she forms a true estimate of the conditions in the town through the evident desire of the magistrate to keep the darker side in the background.

Determined to accomplish the defeat of the police judge and rid the city of its grip of vice and graft she enlists several leading society men and women in her project.

The story gives rise to many far-fetched complications which are brought out in an exceedingly interesting manner by the cast.

Want Sale of The D. T. & I. Postponed

According to unofficial information the District Federal court of Detroit has just been asked for an indefinite postponement of the sale of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, which was to have been sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 17th of next month.

According to the report some of the plans failed to go through, and the lifting of the road from the receivership is about as indefinite as ever.

It is said that receiver's certificates will be issued to raise sufficient funds for making improvements and keeping the road in something like condition.

It has not been learned whether or not the court granted the request for an indefinite postponement of the sale. Time and again the sale date has been postponed until some six or eight dates have been set by the court, and each time a postponement was granted.

Diver Secured To Locate Bodies

An expert diver from Columbus has been secured to locate the bodies of William Kinzer and John Blaker, the two Bainbridge men who were drowned in Paint creek a few nights ago while setting trot lines.

While it is generally believed that the men were drowned, no trace of them can be found, not even a floating hat or other evidence further than the overturned boat with a pocket knife sticking in the bottom of it.

The high waters has made it exceedingly difficult to search for the remains.

Relieve That Sore Throat Now With MUSTEROLE

MUSTEROLE brings quick and blessed relief to the sore throat and leaves a delicious feeling of ease and comfort.

WHO'S WHO IN THE NEW WILSON CABINET

William Jennings Bryan's selection for the office of secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet was due in no small measure, it has been said, to the part he played in the fight for progressive doctrines at the Democratic convention at Baltimore.

Mr. Bryan's public career, in the course of which he was thrice nominated by the Democratic party for the presidency, began in the period from 1891 to 1896, when he was elected to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses from the First Nebraska district. He received the Democratic vote for United States senator in the Nebraska legislature in 1893 and was nominated for the same office in the Democratic convention in 1894, but was defeated by John M. Thurston. He declined renomination as congressman in that year and became editor of the Omaha World-Herald.

It was in 1896 that he sprang into national prominence as the leader of the Democratic party. At the national Democratic convention of that year he wrote the silver plank into the platform and made his celebrated "Cross of Thorns" speech, which carried the convention by storm and obtained for him the nomination on the fourth ballot with 560 votes.

Mr. Bryan followed up his nomination by a tireless campaign, during which he covered 18,000 miles and spoke at almost every stopping place. He was decisively defeated, however, receiving but 176 electoral votes against 271 for McKinley.

In the Democratic national convention of 1900 Mr. Bryan was again nominated for the presidency amid a scene of the wildest enthusiasm, and was elected by the Populist and silver Republican conventions. Again Mr. Bryan made a remarkable campaign, but McKinley defeated him, receiving 255 electoral votes to 155 for Bryan.

In 1906 Mr. Bryan made a tour of the world and was everywhere received with great consideration. His return to New York was the signal for a tremendous demonstration, and it was freely said at that time that he would again be nominated. This proved to be the case, as he dominated the national convention at Denver in 1906 and was named to oppose William Howard Taft, the Republican nominee. He was defeated for the third time, Mr. Taft obtaining 321 electoral votes and Mr. Bryan 162.

Mr. Bryan was born in Salem, Ill., on March 19, 1856, and was graduated at the Illinois college, Jacksonville, Ill., in 1881 and received the degree of A. M. in 1884. He received an L. L. D. from the Union College of Law in 1883 and was admitted to the Illinois bar the same year. He practiced law at Jacksonville from 1883 to 1887 and then moved to Lincoln, Neb., where he now has his home. On Oct. 1, 1884, Mr. Bryan married Mary Elizabeth Baird of Perry, Ill.

William Gibbs McAdoo.

William Gibbs McAdoo first became a prominent figure in politics as acting chairman of the Democratic national committee last fall. He was assistant chairman and because of the illness of William P. McCombs, the chairman, was called upon to take charge of the campaign.

It is as the builder of the Hudson tunnels perhaps that Mr. McAdoo is best known, for he accomplished in six years what was considered one of the greatest engineering feats in history.

Mr. McAdoo was born near Marietta, Ga., on Oct. 31, 1852. The civil war cost the family all of its possessions, and Mr. McAdoo's father, who had been a judge and a soldier, was afterward forced to take up teaching as a professor at the University of Tennessee. At the end of his junior year Mr. McAdoo left the university because of the lack of family funds to take a place as clerk in the United States circuit court. This gave him the opportunity to study law, and when he was twenty-one years old he was admitted to the bar at Chattanooga, Tenn. He dabbled in local politics then, but soon ambition led him to go to New York. Here he formed a partnership with William McAdoo, who had been an assistant secretary of the navy under Cleveland and later police commissioner of New York.

In 1902 Mr. McAdoo organized the New York and New Jersey railroad company, which acquired the old tunnel under the Hudson that was begun in 1874. In 1903 he was elected president of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad company, which operates the present system.

Mr. McAdoo was married at Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1886 to Miss Sarah Hazelbert Fleming, and they had six children. Mrs. McAdoo died a year ago. Mr. McAdoo's home is at Irvington.

Lindley M. Garrison.

Lindley M. Garrison has long been looked upon by the president elect as a man of unusual force and ability, and the two men formed a close friendship while Mr. Wilson was governor of New Jersey. Mr. Garrison has been vice chancellor of New Jersey since 1904 and occupied that post when appointed to a seat in the cabinet.

Mr. Garrison was born at Camden, N. J., on Nov. 23, 1864, the son of the Rev. Joseph F. Garrison. He was graduated from the Exeter preparatory school and spent a year at Harvard studying law, leaving Harvard Mr. Garrison entered the service of the law firm of Redding, Jones & Carson of Philadelphia. He finished his law studies at the University of Pennsylvania and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1892 and to the New Jersey bar in 1888 as an attorney and in 1892 as a counselor.

In 1898 Mr. Garrison formed the law firm of Garrison, McManus & Enright in Jersey City, but left that firm in June, 1904, when the office of vice chancellor was offered to him by Chancellor Magie. When his seven year term expired in 1911 he was reappointed by Chancellor Pitney to serve until 1913. Mr. Garrison is a brother of Justice Charles G. Garrison of the supreme court of New Jersey.

William Cox Redfield.

William Cox Redfield has been an interesting figure in public life. He represented the Fifth district of Brooklyn in congress and last fall was talked of as a candidate for the governorship. He formally announced his candidacy for the presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket. As a congressman Mr. Redfield was an ardent advocate of a downward tariff revision, especially on foodstuffs and the necessities of life.

He was born in Albany on June 13, 1858, and was educated at the high school of Pittsfield, Mass. He has been prominent in Brooklyn politics and business for many years. Borough President Swanstrom appointed Mr. Redfield Brooklyn commissioner of public works in 1902. He is a trustee of the City club, a member of the board of governors of the Crescent club and a trustee of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Redfield was elected to congress from the Fifth district of Brooklyn as the candidate of the Democratic and Independence league parties and won much support because of his attitude on tariff revision.

James Clark McReynolds.

James Clark McReynolds has had considerable experience in the investigation of great business corporations as a special assistant attorney general. His work for the government has consisted chiefly of the prosecution of the tobacco trust and the anthracite coal cases, both of which attracted nation wide interest.

Mr. McReynolds was born at Elkton, Ky., on July 23, 1862, and was educated at Vanderbilt university and in the law department of the University of Virginia. He was a professor at the Vanderbilt Law school from 1900 to 1903, when he was appointed an assistant United States attorney general by President Roosevelt despite the fact that he is a gold Democrat. Mr. McReynolds was not a stranger at the national capital, as he had spent a number of years there as secretary to Justice Howell E. Jackson of Tennessee. He was the second man from Tennessee to occupy the post of assistant attorney general. He resigned in January, 1912, and took up his law practice in New York.

David Franklin Houston.

David Franklin Houston is now chancellor of Washington university, in St. Louis, and for years has been looked upon as one of the noted educators of the south. He has not played a prominent part in politics. Professor Houston was born in Union county, S. C., on Feb. 17, 1866, and was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1887. Five years later he received the degree of A. M. at Harvard and was made an LL. D. by Tulane university and the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Houston served as superintendent of city schools in Spartanburg, S. C., and associate professor and professor of political science, dean of the faculty and president of the University of Texas. He was president of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas from 1902 to 1906 and is a member of the southern educational board, a trustee of the John F. Slater fund, a fellow of the Texas State Historical society, a member of the American Economics association and club.

On Dec. 11, 1895, Professor Houston was married to Miss Helen Beall of Austin, Tex.

Josephus Daniels.

Josephus Daniels, national committeeman from North Carolina, member of the campaign committee and head of the publicity bureau of the Democratic national committee last fall, was one of the original Wilson men and was spoken of from the first as likely to obtain a place in the cabinet.

Mr. Daniels started his career as a newspaper man and later became editor of the News and Observer in Raleigh, N. C. He was born at Washington, N. C., on May 13, 1862, and was educated in the Wilson (N. C.) Collegiate institute. His first employment was with the Wilson Advance when he was eighteen years old. He studied law and was admitted to the bar five years later, but did not take up practice.

He became editor of the Raleigh State Chronicle in 1886 and in 1894 consolidated

CHILDREN MAKE MERRY IN THE WHITE HOUSE

The prattle of childish lips and the sound of baby laughter such as has not been heard in the White House for many years now emanates from the executive mansion, where there is a children's race for the favor of the president of the United States. The contest is going on between the three grand-nieces and the grand-nephew of Woodrow Wilson. A few days ago the quartet had a tea party and little Josephine Wilson Cothran, aged seventeen months, poured for her guests, Virginia Peyton Howe, fat, rosy and blond, aged three; Wilson Howe, her brother, aged ten, and Elizabeth Wilson, also aged ten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson, cousins of the president. The photograph shows them in that order from left to right.

that newspaper, the North Carolinian and the News and Observer. Mr. Daniels was made state treasurer of North Carolina in 1887, holding the office until 1893, and for the next two years he was chief clerk of the department of the interior. He has been a prominent figure in Democratic national conventions.

Mr. Daniels' ambition as a newspaper man, he once said, was to own a newspaper which was a power in his state, and it was with that aim in view that he devoted so much of his time to the News and Observer.

Mr. Daniels was married on May 2, 1888, to Addie N. Bagley, daughter of Major W. H. Bagley. His home is at Raleigh, N. C.

Franklin Knight Lane.

Franklin Knight Lane leaves the chairmanship of the interstate commerce commission to enter the cabinet. Mr. Lane was born in Prince Edward Island, July 15, 1864, and was graduated from the University of California in 1885. Three years later he began the practice of law in San Francisco and was corporation counsel of that city from 1897 to 1902. In the latter year he was a candidate for governor of the state and a year later received the party vote of the legislature for United States senator. Mr. Lane had been a member of the interstate commerce commission since December, 1905, and was a member of the permanent international railway commission.

In 1911 he advocated a corporation commission similar to the interstate commerce commission, with power to regulate all business enterprises engaged in interstate commerce, as the best cure for the so called trust evils.

He has also said that he thought the interstate commerce commission should have the power to say where a new railroad should be located. Mr. Lane argued that on the efficiency of the railway systems depended the prosperity of the country. Mr. Lane was married to Anne Witernute of Tacoma in 1892.

Albert Sidney Burleson.

Albert Sidney Burleson has been a member of the house of representatives from Texas since 1899 and in late years has been a prominent figure in that body. He was a staunch supporter of Governor Wilson and his doctrines in the early pre-convention days. Mr. Burleson was born at San Marcos, Tex., on June 7, 1852, and was educated at the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas, Baylor university of Waco and the University of Texas.

In 1884 Mr. Burleson was admitted to the bar and was assistant city attorney of Austin from 1885 to 1890. In 1891 he was appointed by the governor of Texas as attorney general of the Twenty-sixth judicial district, an office which he held through three successive terms until 1896. He represented both the Ninth and later the Tenth Texas districts in congress. His chief work was done as a member of the appropriations committee.

William Bauchop Wilson.

William Bauchop Wilson of Pennsylvania has taken an active part in trade union matters for many years and from 1900 to 1909 was secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America. He was born in Blantyre, Scotland, on April 2, 1862, and his parents came to this country in 1870 and settled at Arnot, Tioga county, Pa. Mr. Wilson went to work in the coal mines in March, 1871.

Among labor union men Mr. Wilson has enjoyed wide popularity, and his appointment will be received by them with the greatest satisfaction. His re-election each time as secretary-treasurer of the Mine Workers of America was practically without opposition because of the efficient service he had given to the cause.

Of late years Mr. Wilson has engaged in farming at Blossburg, Pa., where he now has his home. He was elected from that district to the Sixtieth congress and re-elected to the Sixty-first congress, receiving more votes than all of the other candidates together. Mr. Wilson is married and has nine children.

Seven Mexican Rulers Have Died

With the killing of Madero and Suarez, the deposed heads of the Mexican Republic, the list of those who have paid the fatal price for ruling Mexico is increased to seven times since a little more than a century ago, when Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, parish priest of Dolores, arose as the "liberator" of Mexico.

The list of Presidents and Emperors of Mexico who have "listened last to the rifle's speech" is as follows:

- Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, liberator, 1811.
- Jos Maria Morrales y Pavon, President, 1815.
- Francisco Xavier Mina, President, 1817.
- Augustine de Iturbide, Emperor, 1824.
- Maximilian, Archduke of Austria, Emperor, 1867.
- Francisco I. Madero, President, 1913.
- Jos Pino Suarez, Vice President, 1913.
